Read

Fill your life with reading. Great books. Inspirational books. Educational books. Entertaining books. Find things you're interested in. Things that motivate you. Push you. Help you. Reading is such a great way to spend your time. It can inspire you, evoke emotion, teach, take you on a journey, bond you with your kids or friends, improve your vocabulary and writing abilities, expand your imagination, and/or give you perspective. Every time I pick up a book, I learn something about myself, about life, relationships. Even a good novel will teach you something about characters, the kind of person you want to be or don't want to be, what matters to you. Or it will merely entertain you. Whatever your reason for reading, it will surely benefit you in some way.
